In this case it is necessary to send a request via email to latorre@unicz.it.
Course Description	The lessons are imprinted to the following criteria: a) to facilitate the understanding of the fundamental institutes, to allow b) the deepening of the matter, through calibrated references to the elaborations of the doctrine and to the applications of the jurisprudence. In such a way, c) the discussion of concrete cases should create the prerequisites for the development of an autonomous critical capacity and evaluation.
Course Objectives and Expected Learning Outcomes	To facilitate the understanding of the most important issues and to assure the acquisition of an effective method of study, will be considered theoretical and practical elements. The aim is to stimulate techniques of analysis and individual synthesis, essential for an autonomous articulation of legal thought and, in perspective, for an easier entry into the world of work.
Program (contents, modalities) Possible distinction between attending and non-attending program	The program deals with the main aspects of maritime navigation and the main aspects of air law and covers the following topics: The Navigation Law - The regulatory regime of the ship and the aircraft – The operation of the ship and the aircraft – The auxiliaries of the shipowner and the operator – Contracts for the use of ships and aircraft - Pilotage and towing contracts – Damage caused by aircraft to third parties on the surface. For out-of-class students and working students the program is reduced. See the box below on recommended texts for details. Specific programs will be agreed upon with the attending students.
Estimated Hours Required for Self-Study	The number of hours to dedicate to the profitable study of the subject varies according to personal skills, the notions already acquired during the academic career, the individual predisposition to deepen the special order, etc. Generally, and considering the above, a diligent student can spend around 84 hours (42 hours of individual study plus 42 hours of class attendance).

Teaching Methods	The course takes place in the first semester of the academic year and is divided into traditional lectures of general framework of the subject and simulations case studies, reading and commentary of the most important pronouncements of Italian and foreign jurisprudence, together with the most accredited guidelines of the doctrine. Will be used overhead projectors, PC, video projector and power point. There will be at least one intermediate test and self-assessment tests.

Intermediate test and final exam. It is foreseen, for the students who have attended the course, an intermediate exam of a part of the program that will be oral.

The students who have passed the intermediate test will take the exam on the remaining part of the program. The final examination will be conducted in oral form.

The student must be able to carry out correct analyses, supported by logical arguments such as to demonstrate the knowledge of the fundamental institutes of the discipline.

The evaluation, more or less high, is graded according to the combination of a series of elements not considered in isolation but integrated with each other. It alludes to the property of language, to the knowledge of the various institutions of special law, to the orientations of doctrine and jurisprudence, and, more generally, to the ability to connect, in a vision of synthesis, the skills acquired.

The exam is passed if the candidate reaches a minimum grade of at least 18/30. The criteria listed in the following table will be used:

Vote	Knowledge and understanding of the topic	Analysis and synthesis skills	Use of references
Ineligible	Significant deficiencies. Significant inaccuracies	Irrelevant. Frequent generalizations. Inability to synthesize	Completely inappropriate
18-20	Level Threshold. Obvious imperfections	Just sufficient ability	Just appropriate
21-23	Routine knowledge	Can analyze and synthesize correctly. Argues logically and coherently	Uses standard references
24-26	Good knowledge	Has good analytical and synthesis skills. Topics are expressed coherently	Uses standard references
27-29	More than good knowledge	Has remarkable analytical and synthesis skills	Has deepened the topics
30-30L	Excellent	Has excellent	In-depth study
